

Education Health Care Needs Assessment (EHC needs assessment)

This information is about the Education, Health and Care needs assessment (EHC needs assessment), which is sometimes called statutory assessment. It covers:

- children in early years settings
- children/young people of school age.

You might also like to look at our leaflet Education, Health and Care Plans.

What is an EHC needs assessment?

An EHC needs assessment is a detailed look at a child/young person's special educational needs (SEN) and the support they may need in order to learn, progress and achieve the best possible educational and other outcomes.

Local authorities are responsible for carrying out EHC needs assessment under the Children and Families Act 2014.

The needs assessment brings together information about:

- what your child/young person can and cannot do
- the special help they need.

It includes information from:

- you
- your child/ young person
- the early years' setting or school
- other professionals who work with or support your child/ young person.

The assessment is to see if your child/young person needs an Education, Health and Care plan (EHC plan).

When is an EHC needs assessment necessary?

The school or early years setting can often give your child/young person help through SEN support. This means that the school makes additional or different provision to meet their needs. Sometimes other professionals will give advice or support to help your child/ young person learn.

Some children/young people need more intensive and specialist help. If your child/young person does not make progress despite the SEN support an EHC needs assessment might be the next step.

The SEND Code of Practice¹ says:

In considering whether an EHC needs assessment is necessary, the local authority should consider whether there is evidence that despite the early years provider, school or post-16 institution having taken relevant and purposeful action to identify, assess and meet the special educational needs of the child or young person, the child or young person has not made expected progress. (9.14)

The local authority will look at:

- your child/young person's attainments and rate of progress
- their special educational needs
- what has already been done
- the difference that support has made
- your child/young person's physical, emotional and social development and health needs.

The SEND Code of Practice says:

A local authority must conduct an assessment of education, health and care needs when it considers that it may be necessary for special educational provision to be made for the child or young person in accordance with an EHC plan. (9.3)

Some children and young people will have needs that clearly require an EHC needs assessment and EHC plan. Once the local authority is aware that this is the case it should start the process without delay.

You can find out more about the criteria that local authorities should follow in the SEND Code of Practice sections 9.3 and 9.14 to 9.16.

Who can ask for an EHC needs assessment?

- parents – by writing to the local authority
- a young person over the age of 16 but under the age of 25
- the early years setting or school, but only after talking with you first.

¹ You can read about Education, Health and Care needs assessments in the SEND Code of Practice Chapter 9. You can find the SEND Code of Practice at www.gov.uk/government/publications/send-code-of-practice-0-to-25

It is always a good idea to talk to the school or early years setting before asking for an EHC needs assessment.

SENDIASS can help you make your request. A template letter is available for you, please contact us for a copy.

Other people, such as your doctor or a health visitor, can tell the local authority that they think your child needs an assessment, but the school or parents will still need to make the request.

What happens when the local authority gets a request for an EHC needs assessment?

As soon as the local authority gets a request for an EHC needs assessment, they must tell you about it.

The SEND Code of Practice says:

In considering whether an EHC needs assessment is necessary, local authorities should pay particular attention to the views, wishes and feelings of the child and his or her parent, or the young person. (9.12)

The local authority has up to six weeks to decide whether to make a needs assessment. During this time it may ask you, the school and other professionals for information.

It will look at all the information and must then tell you whether it has decided:

to start the EHC needs assessment immediately

OR

that an EHC needs assessment is not necessary.

What happens if the local authority decides that an EHC needs assessment is not necessary?

The local authority must tell you why it thinks that an EHC needs assessment is not needed.

It must also tell you about:

- your right of appeal
- independent disagreement resolution and mediation
- how to get further information, advice or support.

If you disagree with the decision SENDIASS can explain your options to you.

What happens if the EHC needs assessment goes ahead?

The SEND Code of Practice says:

Local authorities must consult the child and the child's parent or the young person throughout the process of assessment and production of an EHC plan. They should also involve the child as far as possible in this process. The needs of the individual child and young person should sit at the heart of the assessment and planning process. (9.21)

The local authority will write to you to tell you what will happen and ask for your views. Your views and your child/young person's views are really important. SENDIASS can give you information, advice and support to help you with this.

The local authority will ask a number of other people for information about your child/young person. This is called 'advice' and it should include information about:

- your child/young person's education, health and care needs
- the desired outcomes for your child/young person
- the special educational, health and care provision that might be required to meet their needs and achieve the desired outcomes.

The local authority must ask for advice and information from:

- parents (or the young person)
- your child/young person's early years setting or school
- an educational psychologist
- health professionals who work with your child/young person. This might include a paediatrician, speech and language therapist, physiotherapist or occupational therapist.
- social care staff
- anyone else you ask them to contact who may be able to give relevant advice and information.

If your child/young person has a vision or hearing impairment the local authority must also seek information and advice from a suitably qualified teacher.

The local authority should also try to find out your child/young person's views. You, the school and other professionals may be able to help with this. If you think your child/young person needs someone to help them give their views you can ask SENDIASS for more information about this.

You will have the opportunity, probably at the EHC Coproduction Meeting, to discuss your child/young person with everyone involved in the needs assessment and to agree aspirations and outcomes that you want for your child/young person. You will receive a copy of all the reports when the needs assessment is finished.

If you want information, advice or support during the EHC needs assessment contact SENDIASS.

You can find out more about advice and information for EHC needs assessments in the SEND Code of Practice sections 9.45 – 9.52.

What if some of this advice is already available?

Sometimes advice and information is already available because other professionals have been working with your child/young person.

The SEND Code of Practice says:

The local authority must not seek further advice if such advice has already been provided (for any purpose) and the person providing the advice, the local authority and the child's parent or the young person are all satisfied that it is sufficient for the assessment process. In making this decision, the local authority and the person providing the advice should ensure the advice remains current. (9.47)

When does the EHC needs assessment end?

Once the local authority has all the information and advice it must decide whether your child/young person needs an Education, Health and Care plan (EHCP).

An EHC plan is a legal document written by the local authority. It describes the special educational needs that a child/young person has and the help that they will be given to meet them. It also includes the health and care provision that is needed. You can read more about EHC plans in the Local Offer² or in our leaflet Education, Health and Care Plans.

Sometimes the local authority will decide that your child/young person has special educational needs that can be met through SEN support. If this is the case the local authority must tell you of its decision within 16 weeks of receiving a request for an EHC needs assessment. The local authority must also tell you about your right of appeal.

If the local authority decides an EHC plan is necessary it must first write a draft plan. It will send you the draft EHC plan and copies of the reports so that you can read it all. You should check that everything you think is important has been included and that you agree with the outcomes and the proposed provision. The local authority will also ask you which school you prefer your child/young person to go to.

² The Local Offer includes more information on the local arrangements for EHC needs assessments. You can find the Local Offer at <https://www.wokingham.gov.uk/local-offer-for-0-25-year-olds-with-additional-needs/>

You have 15 days to make comments and to ask for a meeting or accept the draft plan.

Note that if you do not reply within 15 days the local authority may assume that you agree with the draft plan.

The last stage is for the local authority to send you the final EHC plan. If you are still unhappy with the plan or cannot agree with the local authority on a school, you have a right to go to mediation and/or to appeal (see below).

If you need help at any stage you can contact SENDIASS.

Sometimes this timescale can be different. See SEND Code of Practice section 9.42.

What if I do not agree with the local authority about the EHC needs assessment or the EHC plan?

At any stage you can ask to talk to a member of the local authority’s staff. This will usually be the person named in the letter the local authority sends to you when it receives a request for an EHC needs assessment.

SENDIASS can give you impartial information and advice about the options open to you, and support you through the process.

You also have a right to request independent disagreement resolution and, in some circumstances, mediation. You can find out more about disagreement resolution and mediation in the Local Offer and in the SEND Code of Practice Chapter 9.

Where can I get more information, advice or support?

You can read about Education, Health and Care needs assessments in the SEND Code of Practice Chapter 9. You can find the SEND Code of Practice at www.gov.uk/government/publications/send-code-of-practice-0-to-25
